

RENEGADE WITHOUT A FIGHT

Lights out, no one's home
A visionary came again
Tucked in bed all alone
See you tomorrow at ten
I'll hide here 'til it's done
I've packed away my gun
Oh it'll happen tonight
I'm a renegade without a fight

Maria, you can be out late
I'll stay here and think
About all the good times we used to have
Before we were taken to the brink
Greed, deception and love
For things we do not need
Oh it'll happen tonight
I'm a renegade without a fight

Now some say this world was made for you and me
Some say it's tragic that we all believe
And all the heroes they've gone over the line
Trying to catch a glimpse of their dreams one last time

Time's up the rain is falling
The sun's gone over the rise
There's people down on their knees
Staring up into the sky
I can't even believe
That it's come down to this
Our future once filled with hope
Is now marked by emptiness

What happened to the chance of being who we wanna be
Is making a small fortune still an opportunity
But I stand here with a vow to give you life right now
Oh it'll happen tonight
I'm a renegade without a fight
